

This is a position of Lay Counselors/Violence Advocates for A Study Funded by the Indian Council of Medical Research .The Study aims to evaluate an Intervention designed to build Capacity of primary health care providers(HCPs) in urban primary care settings in Bangalore to Respond to gender-based violence and promote women's rights at St. John's Research Institute, Bangalore.

Post : Lay Counselors/Violence Advocates

Reports to : Principal Investigator/s

Scope of Work:

- ❖ Engage in Community outreach and build rapport.
- ❖ Create awareness regarding domestic violence and its health impacts.
- ❖ To provide impromptu as well planned counseling to survivors of domestic violence.
- ❖ To Co-ordinate access to and utilization of referral services.
- ❖ The incumbent shall report to the Project Coordinator.

The Opportunity: To work with a leading research group at a top notch institution; and gain expertise in mixed-methods, community-based intervention research.

The Candidate: Minimum qualification of 10+2 with a certificate in counseling. Will has approximately 2-4 years research/data collection experience. She will have basic computer skills (use of word processing programs, data entry programs), and be an effective communicator and a team player.

Languages: Spoken and Written Kannada and /or Tamil fluency is a must. English Fluency is desirable.

No. of vacancies: Three (3).

Application Due: 05th November, 2011

To Apply : E-mail cover letter and CV to rituasinha.placements@gmail.com. with job title as subject heading.